NEW METHOD OF GUARDING MAIL CARS SUCCESS

Kid Gass, Shot Spreaders and Calcium Flares Prove Too Much for Attacking Pseudo Bandit Gang

ONLY ONE ESCAPES

Three 'Killed' and Two 'Captured'
—Government Will Equip 3,000 More Cars With Protecting Devices

Tilly Foster, Aug. 20.—Pseudo bandits tonight held up a New York Central train and braved calcium flares, gunfire, and movie cameras in a sham battle staged to demonstrate the impotency of the government's newly equipped bandit-proof mail cars.

The holdup was repulsed without casualties to the train crews; and of the six hired make-believe bandits, three were listed as "killed," two were "captured," and one was "missing."

Officials of the post office department at Washington and New York city as well as department chiefs of the New York Central who supervised the demonstration, declared it a complete success. The government, they said, would now proceed to equip 3,000 mail cars with the battle field flares, riot guns, firing shields, shot spreaders, and other warlike devices used in repulsing tonight's pre-arranged attack.

This little village of Tilly Foster, 61 miles from New York, was well chosen for the sham battle. The locality might have been transported from a dime thriller of wild west fiction.

Scene Lighted by Calcium.

There was a huge locomotive belching black smoke as it tore along with four jurching mail coaches. There was the curve it rounded as it dove past a little lake—Tilly Foster reservoir—and another curve as it thundered past the Tilly Foster mine—an iron ore property abandoned years ago. Concealed in the grass, with scuffed hats bobbin, and rifles slumbering, were the pseudo bandits—members of the New York post office on special duty.

Also concealed in the grass were numerous postal and railroad officials, movie camera men, newspapermen, and Floyd Montgomery of Washington, director general of publicity for the postmaster general.

Two of the make-believe train robbers leaped directly in the path of the surging train, waving a red lantern. Two frantic blasts of the whistle, grinding brakes, and the rail stopped. A hand climbed into the engine cab. Another got at the couplings which fastened the engine to the cars. Short! the engine puffed along the rails, alone.

Meanwhile, grim faces appeared at the latticed windows of the first mail car. The 20 mail clerks therein appeared determined to guard, at all costs, the 1,200 pieces of "dead letter" mail that had been stuffed into the bags.

Fatal Defense Proves Sufficient.

Five bag girls, with five rifles, blazed away at No. 1 mail car. Instantly, the sides of four riot guns appeared from porches on one side of the car, and, rotating slowly, began belching theoretical lead in all directions. At the same time, long sticks of calcium were thrust from other porches; the light of way within a radius of a hundred yards became as bright as midday as they blazed forth.

The bandits appeared disconcerted, shot up to the edge of the track they cleared, and beneath the car when, to their dismay, other riot guns appeared from porches over their heads. The guns were fired directly downward, but their carcasses of theoretical buckshot were caught, two feet from the ground, upon a conical detector, which would have sent bits of lead flying in all directions at a height of a man's knee.

That was too much for the bandits. Three of them already lay motionless. The remaining two held up their hands in surrender. Another, who had held a pistol over the engineer and fireman as the locomotive was driven off, never came back.

SAYS CHICKEN WISHBONE CAUSED TROUBLE IN HOME

New York, Aug. 20.—It was a chicken wishbone that cast the first shadow in the married life of George and Bertha Heyrman of Brooklyn, according to an affidavit filed by the husband in answer to his wife's action for separation in the Brooklyn supreme court today. Mrs. Heyrman charged her husband with having lied and beaten her last February but he cannot read in open court based some of the blame for their marital unhappiness on the results of a bone pulling contest.

"Three days after we married," said Heyrman, "we were pulling a wishbone, and I got the better half. My wife told me later that this was the determine who was to be boss and she was depressed because I got the longer half."

NOTED SWING WRITER DIES.
Guelph, Ont., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Clara Linton, noted writer, is dead in London, Eng., said a cablegram received today. Her best known poem, "My Antelope," she also wrote, "was written in 1906."

TORNADO DAMAGES HOUSES NEAR CITY OF BINGHAMTON

Binghamton, Aug. 20.—A typical western tornado of brief duration struck the villages of Conklin, Conklin Center and Kirkwood, near here, late today, demolishing farm buildings, uprooting trees and tearing roofs and porches from a number of houses. One house in which five people had taken refuge is reported to have been blown to bits. All but one of the occupants escaped injury. A large barn housing 26 head of cattle was blown in, many cows being buried under the debris and killed.

GANG WAR COSTS TWO MORE LIVES

Third Killing in Two Days in Resumed "Chicken Pucker's War"—Two Brothers Victims

New York, Aug. 20.—Two men were shot to death today in what the police termed a resumption of the "chicken pucker's war," which was waged fiercely on both sides of the Hudson up to seven years ago when the authorities brought temporary peace by sending several gang leaders to the electric chair after a series of particularly violent murders.

Todays' victims marked the third murder of the resumed warfare in two days. They were William Young, 23, and his friend, Edward Connelly, who were fatally shot by a band of men who operated from a taxicab in lower Eighth avenue. James Young, William's 27 year old brother, was shot to death at about the same place and hour in a similar manner yesterday.

The Young brothers were to have appeared in a Jersey City court next month to testify against the murderers of their older brother, John, who was killed by a gunman who rushed from a taxicab into his Weehawken, N. J., saloon last March, shot him down, and fled. The brothers were said to have been the only witnesses to the murder.

SUPERVISOR MISSING; FUNDS REPORTED AS BEING SHORT

Stony Creek, Aug. 20.—Search was being continued tonight for former Supervisor Arthur E. Adams, who is wanted for passing alleged bad checks.

Both the senator and his opponent were released on bond, pending trial, which at first was set for this afternoon in police court. A postponement until late tonight, however, was ordered when McMaham demanded a letter said to have called former "dirty liar"—Each Re-leased on Bond

McMahon.

Caffney, S. C., Aug. 20.—Charges of disorderly conduct and fighting were placed against United States Senator Nathaniel H. Dial and John McMaham, state insurance commissioner, who is opposing the senator for re-nomination, and the two were placed under arrest today after a personal encounter between them at a campaign meeting.

Senator Dial was said by spectators to have asserted that McMaham has referred to him as a "dirty liar" and to have advanced upon his opponent armed with a chair, only to be intercepted by the chairman of the meeting and several of the audience.

Both the senator and his opponent were released on bond, pending trial, which at first was set for this afternoon in police court. A postponement until late tonight, however, was ordered when McMaham demanded a letter said to have left the city, saying that he would be represented by an attorney.

MANY GERMANS STILL HELD IN SIBERIAN WAR PRISONS

Berlin, Aug. 20.—Bernard Jantos, former German soldier, died dead, at home after having spent nearly 19 years in Siberia as a prisoner.

Jantos says there is still a large number of German war prisoners in Siberia, especially in the district of Tomsk. These men have not been able to communicate with the German government, and are unable to leave the country, owing to the lack of funds and poor transportation facilities. The government will take steps to re-patriate the men.

Agents of the Brooklyn state called upon Jankowski and requested liquor.

The proprietor pushed the first button and the room was alight. He pressed another and a small trap door opened. The third filled a glass with whiskey.

Tracing the tube from which the liquid issued, the agents found a cask hidden under a bed in an upstairs room.

GIANTIC TOTALITY BLIND.

Putnam, Conn., Aug. 20.—G. Harold Gilpatrick, former state treasurer and defaulting cashier of the First National bank of Putnam, is totally blind, physicians said today.

Authorities at the hospital where he is being treated as the result of self-inflicted gunshot wounds expect he cannot be discharged for weeks.

They believe he will never recover his sight. A warrant for commitment has been served on him at the hospital.

VETERAN ENGINEER DIES.

Buffalo, Aug. 20.—Thomas A. Cantin, said to be the oldest passenger engineer in active service in the country, died suddenly today at his home here. He was born in South Bend, Ind., and began railroading as a water boy. For the last 38 years he has been an engineer on the Lackawanna Phoebe Snow special. He never had an accident fatal to a passenger.

BOY SURVIVES MINE SHAFT.

Schenectady, Aug. 20.—Three men rescued seven-year-old Otto Schwartz today when a miniature tunnel in which he was playing with two other boys caved in, burying him under tons of sand. His playmates, screaming, ran to a fire house and a man, with the boy's father and a man, dug the boy out, unconscious.

300 SPORTS FOUND GUILTY.

Manhattan, Aug. 20.—A court martial has returned a verdict of guilty in the cases of 300 Philippine recruits charged with joining a mutiny and sentenced them to five years imprisonment with hard labor and the forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

RAXISTS GET $30,000.

Kansas City, Aug. 20.—Three masked bandits today held up the Exchange bank here and escaped with approximately $12,000.

TRADES WIVES; NO BODY'S BUSINESS

Thus Thinks One of Men, But Judge Rules Differently—Other Couple Missing

Buffalo, Aug. 20.—Chester Williams of Olean, who traded wives with Hugh Omar, former of England, couldn't understand what business it was of anyone else so long as the exchange was imminently agreeable.

So reported a probation officer when Williams was tried in a police court charged with assaulting Alberta Omar, with whom he has been living since February.

"I'll tell him why in a few minutes," remarked Judge Keebler, who sent Mrs. Omar to jail to await an investigation by the immigration authorities.

"You're sent to the workhouse for 60 days on the assault charge," he said to Williams.

Omar and his wife lived four years in Canada before they came to this country on May 28, 1923. The Omars and the Williams lived in the same apartment when they came to this city. The Omars have a girl four years old, who is cared for by the Children's Aid society. Omar and Mrs. Williams have not been seen!

COMPANY G BAND IN UNADILLA

Delightful Entertainment Given By Oneonta Organization

Unadilla, Aug. 20.—The concert given by Company G band of Oneonta Saturday evening was one of the best ever heard here. The evening began with rain, which interfered to an extent with the number who attended, but a fair sized audience enjoyed it. The ice cream sale of the Baptist church was successful. Both were held on the lawn at the Community house and each helped the other.

Forty-Four at Garden Party.
Rev. and Mrs. Yale Lyon entertained 44 of the young people at a garden party at Northwood Tuesday, August 19, from 3 to 6. Croquet, Mah Jongg, dancing and bowling on the green furnished amusement. Light refreshments were served. The guests enjoyed the party greatly and left the hour for departure came much too early.

Home From Wisconsin.
Mrs. Jennie Crooker returned Wed-

Notes is hereby given, that the Common Council of the city of Oneonta, N.Y., at a meeting held on August 19, 1924, passed a Local Law entitled "Ordinance Regulating Traffic" as follows, to wit:

Ordinance No. 2.

REGULAR TRAFFIC.
Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to drive or to hitch any animal to any shade or ornamental tree, or to fasten or hitch any animal or bear such shade or ornamental tree as will permit such animal to injure, deface or mar any such shade or ornamental tree.

Section 2. A vehicle in overtaking or passing another vehicle which has stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging a passenger or passengers shall not pass or approach within seven feet of such vehicle so long as such car, receiving or discharging such passengers. When the street car is stationary, but not taking on or discharging passengers, vehicles may pass such street car, but not at a speed exceeding ten miles per hour. All persons leaving or entering any such shall have right of way over all passing vehicles.

Section 3. Excepting in an emergency or when advised to do so by a police officer, no vehicle shall be stopped or left standing within the intersection of any cross street, within fifteen feet of any curb, except where a traffic officer is on duty within ten feet of any fire hydrant, main entrance to any building, charge of a person capable of driving it, a front or within fifteen feet of either side of the entrance of any theatre, cinema or other building where large assemblies of persons are being held, except to take water or to stop for a load or freight, and then only for such length of time as is necessary for such purpose.

Section 4. No vehicle shall be stopped or left standing for a period of more than half hour on either side of Main street at its intersection with the westerly side of Elm street and with the easterly side of Grove street. No vehicle shall be parked or left standing on the westerly side of Elm street between its intersection with Main street and Elm street. No vehicle shall be parked or left standing on either side of Elm street within ten feet of any curb, except where a traffic officer is on duty within ten feet of any fire hydrant, main entrance to any building, charge of a person capable of driving it, a front or within fifteen feet of either side of the entrance of any theatre, cinema or other building where large assemblies of persons are being held, except to take water or to stop for a load or freight, and then only for such length of time as is necessary for such purpose.

Section 5. No vehicle shall be stopped or left standing in any part of the city of Oneonta, except located and established by the Police Commission of the city of Oneonta.

Section 6. No person shall leave a bicycle parked or standing in the street or on the curb on either side of Main street at its intersection with the westerly side of Elm street and with the easterly side of Grove street if any bicycle is left standing between them. The building shall be in place of garage or near building that it does not border upon the side of the sidewalk.

Section 7. No person operating a motor vehicle on the public streets of this city shall drive or operate such vehicle in a hasty and disorderly manner and at a rate of speed to exceed one mile in three minutes or of a greater rate of speed than necessary to cause danger to persons or property which is not careful and prudent.

Section 8. No person shall be operating any of the provisions of this ordinance, and shall be subject to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment not exceeding one month, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Section 9. This local law shall take effect immediately.

This law was passed to prevent accidents, etc., as Chapter 300 of the laws of the City of Oneonta, N.Y., on August 20, 1924, in the presence of a public hearing, to be held by the Mayor at the office of the Clerk of Oneonta, N.Y., on August 20, 1924, in the presence thereof, at which all persons may be heard for their representation of their local interests.

Given August 20, 1924.

SHODD MUNICIPALISTS

This is not long ago when man entered the National, he did also meet the drunkards and when he was summoned from his election and return of national destiny at the polls. This is no longer the case, however.
Miss Hill votes just as much, and possibly takes just as much, as the husband or her was wont to do. The drinking is, of course, eliminated.

But it would appear man is no longer to be permitted to occupy even that equal place to which by willing use of himself some time ago he was elected. Instead, if the plans of the National Women's party prevail, woman and woman will be considered worthy of official place. This was decided at a meeting of the party held at Westport last week, where it was voted that there is no male candidate anywhere who is deemed worthy of woman's support in the coming campaign, and that to carry the place through only women should be voted for as representatives in congress. The formal resolution recites that the Women's party will end voting for congress and do its utmost to elect women nominees irrespective of their political affiliations, who seem qualified to sit in congress, and who will support the general feminist program.

Fortunately the National party forementioned is not a large one, and women may be trusted generally to vote according to their convictions, to a greater extent than even man.
Upon them, the above resolution will have no effect. But if there is any more man, looking for office in this state of New York who trembles at what's coming, it may be suggested that the door for escape by declining the candidacy is still open.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS.

Study of statistics in the state of Massachusetts would seem to indicate that the number of drunken auto drivers is increasing, or at least that the number of arrests for drunken driving on the part of drivers is growing greater. In 1921, for example, there were 2,658 arrests for drunken driving, which is an increase from 1,923 in 1922 and from 1,821 in 1923.
Also in that state the number of licenses revoked for operating under the influence of liquor has mounted from 1,503 in 1921 to 2,332 in 1922.

These figures, while in one respect disquieting, are in another satisfactory,

CLIPPINGS FROM THE PRESS

Accidents on Wet Pavement.
As usual the weekend brought a number of motor accidents. Some of them were of a fatal character. A few were due to the wet pavements which resulted from Sunday's downpour.

It is well generally known that conditions exist, and, therefore, safety pavement are avoidable. In wet weather cars running is slow running.

To pass others, and at curves, is the greatest care should be exercised.

There is no excuse for not driving a good pace on wet pavements which should not be challenged.

It is true that slow running is an old fashioned way of driving, but better than accidents. Some steps should be taken by motor organizations to protect their members with regard to running slowly and carefully when the pavements are wet.

More than half of those who drive cars are not members of the motor organization, as they should be.

The state could profitably undertake the task of giving needed instruction to car owners which would prove of advantage to all make use of the highways.—(Scranton Republican).

Safety Streets.

Thus far this year No. 10 signs have been hung up on 120 streets in New York. Streets are public property and citizens have rights." But the legal advisers of New York's municipal Government have declared that it is not an intrusion of the rights of any citizen to bar certain streets, where, by force of circumstance, children are nearly always at play, and to make vehicular traffic seek another route.

Streets are barred to traffic and cars ordered to run slowly and cautiously for a variety of reasons

in every city. What reason more important than that the lives of little children shall be spared from the Juggernaut?—(Philadelphia Bulletin).

City Children and Cars.

Streets originally designed for vehicular traffic with an average speed of eight miles an hour, have become the virtual right-of-way for cars traveling anywhere from 20 to 35 miles an hour, or the speed of an average railway train. City streets have become little less dangerous as a playground than railway tracks, and yet in many cases children are forced to resort to the public highways as the only available recreation ground.

Horseshoe Pitching.

Horseshoe pitching leagues seem to have gone out of style, as but little is heard about them any more. There was no real demand for them. Most men have concluded that real honest-to-goodness work, fixing things up about home, pays better dividends than so much time spent pitching horseshoes. A lot of it is all right, but two much is a plenty.—[New Albany Tribune].

The Vigorous Veterans.

More than sixty years after they rallied to the colors at the call of Lincoln the veterans of the Civil War are vigorous enough to hold a national convention, parade a mile in the rain and elect officers to plan another great gathering next year.—(Harrisburg Telegraph).

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

"NERVES."

It is interesting to watch the different attitude of the profession towards "nervousness," "nerves," and "nervous exhaustion," than that held just a few years ago.

If patient exhibited any of above signs, it was simply said to be due to the brain or nervous system and a rest was advised.

This was good treatment of course but wasn't getting at the cause.

In some way the nervous brain were thought to be responsible for any "quickness" or unusual behavior.

If an individual became hysterical or melancholy, then the brain was blamed for it.

It is now becoming more apparent that various glands of the body are responsible for these conditions.

The thyroid, and other ductless glands, which, while not eliminating action or life as we might say, nevertheless seem to "regulate" the actions of the body.

A watch may have all its compen-tent parts, you wind it up, and away goes.

But it may run fast or slow, and the regulator is adjusted so as to make the watch tick slower.

These glands seem to have the power of making certain processes, nerves and others, adjust themselves properly to the whole body as it functions.

However, these glands themselves can be affected by the blood, which as it passes through them, to nourish them leaves with them certain harmful products.

These harmful products, causing a change in the structure of the gland, with the result that its action on the system—the nervous system—is quite marked, and the affected person may laugh, cry, be full of activity, unable to sleep, or may on the other hand be dull, heavy, dis-inclined to do anything of a mental or physical nature. Just a case of too much speed or not enough to put it right. Now all these conditions are not of course always due to the glands, but from the nervous system, or other part of the body. It might be possible to improve a general condition of one or more of these glands.

The secretions of these conditions
by means of portions of the glands themselves, as well as in the excretions of the body, have shown striking results in some cases.

SOCIAL NIGHTS

The White Sox and the Y. M. C. A. will play a Twilight league game at the Nauvoo park diamond at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Members of the American Legion auxiliary and families are invited to a picnic in Wilber park Friday afternoon. Bring covered dish and sandwiches and necessary dishes for each family.

The Miss Helen Keenan and Miss Helen Fisher were hostesses at a delightful bridge luncheon yesterday at the home of the former, 19 Walnut street. The prizes were won by Miss Mary Simon and Miss Josephine Lauren.

Professor Karl F. Saul of Bayonne, N.J., a prominent musician visiting in this city, has frequently served as soloist for station WRAF in New York city and his piano selections have no doubt been enjoyed by a number of radio music lovers in Oneonta.

Angelina Crosby, Oneonta R. D. was knocked to the pavement, when she stepped from the rear of a car and was hit by the fender of a machine driven by Jay Woolhester of 22 Miller street, in front of the City bakery, late yesterday afternoon, but escaped practically uninjured.

The pension board met yesterday at the office of Dr. O. C. Tarbox, 16 Ford avenue. Two disabled veterans were examined, both being from Oneonta. P. M. Moser of Otsego reported that he had recently received word from Washington to the effect that his pension had been increased from $50 to $72 per month.

THE KIWANIS LUNCHEON.

Varied Program by Artists and Orators Filled a Pleasant Hour.

At the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, held at the Elks' home yesterday, the members were entertained by a program arranged by Dan Sherman. Mr. Sherman contributed several local numbers, which were well received; and his square-dance calling, in which he was assisted by Harry Stiles on the violin, caused considerable merriment. Viola and saxophone solos by the artiste were heartily encored.

Kiwanian A. P. Conway of Albany addressed the members relative to the choice of Albany as the convention city in 1925.

Dr. A. H. Brownell, "Dad," was elected a delegate to the state convention at Buffalo next month.

Other guests at the luncheon were T. D. Tailmidge of New York city, a former resident of Oneonta, and Kiwanian L. B. Sexton.

Meetings Tonight.

Regular meeting of Sergeant Elbert N. Patten post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, this evening at 7:30 p.m. at state armory. All candidates for membership who have been previously notified to appear for initiation and who have not yet done so are urged to present themselves at 8 o'clock. Bring discharge unless it has previously been checked by lodge officer.

There will be a meeting of Carpenters & Joiners' union tonight. A full attendance is desired.

Regular meeting of L. C. B. A. tonight at 8 o'clock.

Regular meeting of Oneonta circle, P. H. C. in L. O. O. F. hall, tonight at 8 o'clock. Good attendance is desired.

LANE'S ELECTRIC SHOP SOLD

J. Burton Lane Electronics Business to C. C. Miller & Co.—Considering Oneonta Business Enterprise.

Yesterday C. C. Miller & Co. purchased the Lane Electric shop, which for seven years has been successfully conducted in this city by J. Burton Lane, and they plan to add the large stock of fixtures and supplies to their already comprehensive line, permitting of even better service to the community. The fixtures and supplies only are included in the sale, the stock at 246-248 Main street, where the shop has been located for several years, remaining the property of Mr. Lane and E. E. Scatford.

While Mr. Lane had no definite announcement to make concerning his plans for the future, he stated that he was considering an Oneonta enterprise which he felt was particularly promising, and that within a short time he hoped to again be engaged in business in this city.

The Lane Electric shop was founded in 1917 by Mr. Lane and has proved a successful and growing business.

However, he felt that greater opportunity was offered in other lines and he therefore is making the change.

Bill's outstanding of the Lane Electric shop will still be received for about three weeks at the present location, 248 Main street.

MILLER CO. SEES NEW OPPORTUNITY

In speaking of the acquisition of the business last evening C. C. Miller, president of C. C. Miller and Co., stated that when the stock of the Lane shop was offered to him he felt that a new opportunity was offered and one which could not well be overlooked.

He said that with the larger stock, which might require additional floor space, now available in the present quarters of the Miller company, would make possible a far superior electrical service to the residents of this community, and that increased volume of business would tend toward a smaller margin of profit, to the benefit of all concerned.

It is very possible that a sale will soon be had by the Miller company to reduce some of the duplications in the combined stocks, and make possible the addition of new lines.

"BACK TO SCHOOL" CAMPAIGN

Oneonta Rotary Club Engaged in Spreading the Gospel of the Value of an Education to Boys and Their Parents.

As part of its "Back to School" campaign Oneonta Rotary club is running in The Star a series of advertisements outlining the advantages of a sound education and urging fathers and mothers to keep their boys in school as long as possible. The first of these ads appeared in The Star of Tuesday and the second will be found in today's paper.

Helping the boy is one of the principal objectives of Rotary and the "Back to School" idea is stressed annually by Rotary clubs in all parts of the world. Remarkable results have been achieved in many places.

Last year Oneonta Rotary held a picnic to which all boys in the city between certain ages were invited.

Several addresses were given urging continuance in school. The boys' work committee, composed of A. E. Ward, Charles J. Beams, Dr. Lester S. Lang and William H. Lunn, decided this year to do away with the picnic, which really accomplished little except give the boys a good time, and substitute a campaign of advertising and personal work.

An advertisement will be run daily until school time and an acquaintance between the school boys of the city and the Rotarians will be formed by having the boys as guests of Rotarians at Rotary luncheons. It is hoped that the campaign will awaken parents, as well as the boys themselves, to the necessity in this day of as good an education as possible.

After closing his thoughtful address, Col. Roosevelt wished it understood that what he had said applied with equal force to women as to men and that no matter what attitude women took upon the franchise question before, the duty has been placed upon them by the men and they should not shrink from it. In his final word he urged all who believe in the truth of his remarks to become peace-time patriots and not slackers.

Col. Roosevelt was met at Blenheim by former Assemblyman Bert Lord and other prominent Chenango county politicians and whom he motored to Afton and was entertained with them at a noon-day luncheon at the residence of Mr. Lord.

At the fair grounds, where he arrived about 1 o'clock, he was presented to the large gathering by Rev.

W. J. Hill. He was given a cordial greeting when he reached the roof garden and even more hearty cheers when he had concluded.

LARGE TURNOUT APPLAUD

Qualified Voters Who Fail to Cast Their Ballots Responsible for Failure of Government—Dr. Wheeler Wins $10 Test With "W. H. A."—Fair Continuous Thursday and Friday.

"During the war period we had war slackers and now in peace time we still have slackers, people who fail to discharge their duties as citizens," Col. Theodore Roosevelt told the large throng he addressed at the Afton fair yesterday afternoon.

Our citizenship was aroused during the war period but now they appear to have slipped back into a snug complacency he said. They appear to forget that there are duties and responsibilities that rest upon us as participants in the affairs of government and too many are simply concerned with what they can get, for them selves, unmindful of what they should do for the successful administration of the nation's business. With the privileges that we enjoy as citi-cens of the nation go with them certain obligations.

In the important election of 1920 for every 100 who voted there were 96 others whose duty it was to vote but who failed to give expression to their choice as to who should administer the affairs of the government.

The discouraging feature the speaker added is that we are going from bad to worse and some fear for the perpetuity of the nation. In 1920 80 per cent of the qualified voters went to the polls; in 1920, 78 per cent; in 1920, 66 per cent; in 1920, 62 per cent and in 1920 only about 50 per cent.

We often hear voters declaring themselves dissatisfied with the candidates of both major parties, yet if the truth were known the one voting the sentiment did nothing to aid in the selection of the best candidate and failed to vote on election day.

We are rapidly becoming a nation of two classes, the governing class and the governed. This is not as it should be. If we are content to take our ease and let things go on so far as we, ourselves, are concerned, we should not overlook the fact that the coming generations have a right to expect that we will preserve the nation in all its glories and wonderful opportunities for them. If we have no other motive the future welfare of our children and of our children's

LARGE MILITARY FUNERAL

Services Held for Joseph Stapleton, Late of this City, at Worcester Yesterday, with Military Organizations Participating.

Largely attended funeral service for Joseph C. Stapleton, late of this city, whose death was noted in The Star of Tuesday, were held yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock from St. Joseph's Catholic church of Worcester and following a short prayer service at the home at 9 o'clock. In addition to the large company of relatives and friends, were delegations from the Oneonta American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Company G, whose firing squad assisted at the graveside.

The requiem mass was celebrated by Father Edward T. Reilly of Worcester, who also officiated as chaplain at the military service at the grave at St. Joseph's cemetery, he having served in that capacity during the World war. His words to the grieving family were filled with feeling and hope.

A large number of flowers paid tribute to the popularity of the young man, consisting of spiritual bouquets, pieces from relatives and friends, and from the following Oneonta organizations: Gas department of the New York State Gas & Electric corporation, A. O. Ingerham and members of the American Legion, officers and employees of the Wilber National bank, and a large piece from friends of Oneonta.

Among those from a distance in attendance at the service, besides a large company from Oneonta, were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stapleton and Martin Stapleton of Albany, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stapleton and Mrs. John Owens of Watervliet, Mr. and Mrs. William Stapleton of Binghamton, and Mrs. Theresa Reilly of Schenectady.

At the house the casket was draped with an American flag, and the bearers were members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Ambrose Roland, Ralph S. Weyhoff, Charles Randle, William McKnight, John Miskell, and Joseph Vitullo. Other members of the two organizations acted as escort in civilian clothes.

At the cemetery the firing squad was composed of First Sergeant James Gilmarin, Sergeant P. A. Wood, Sergeant Clifford Grant, Corporal Hazel Reynolds, Corporal Morris Howey, Corporal Alfred E. Davis, and Private Harold Solters. Tape was sounded by Bugler Otto Laraway.

Piles Are Absorbed
Never to Return

After years of patient painstaking effort on the part of a well known doctor, a prescription has been found that will actually heal piles and absorb them never to return.

No man or woman need suffer so often from hemorrhoids, pain or suffering arising from rectal troubles—please note that this wonderful prescription known as Moxy can be obtained for a moderate price at any first class drug store on the market back if discontinued.

You'll be amazed to see how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in an hour, even in cases of long standing, with great relief.

Simply ask George S. Stade for a small box of Moxy Suppositories, being careful to follow the simple directions that come in each box.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Cora Irene, Hatchette and Howard Irving White of West Oneonta United Yesterday.

West Oneonta, Aug. 29.—A very pretty home wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hatchette of West Oneonta, when their daughter, Cora Irene, was united in marriage with Howard Irving White.

The bride and groom are well known to many in Oneonta and these many friends unite with friends in West Oneonta in congratulations and best wishes to the young couple.

The wedding ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the main room of the Hatchette residence, decorated for the occasion with a large arch of running pine, by Rev. William Lincoln Phillips of Woodbridge. The wedding march from Lohengrin was rendered by Miss Jane Simons of Sherrill, who also played the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the returning wedding party.

The bride was given away by her parents. The bride's gown was of white Canton crepe, with an embroidered silk net veil, caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

The bridegroom was Miss Marion E. Hatchette, sister of the bride, whose dress was of powder blue silk Canton crepe, and who carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The best man was Harold E. White, brother of the groom. Mrs. Harold E. White and Miss Mildred E. White acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon of four courses was served to 25 guests under the supervision of Mrs. Rose Blizard of Oneonta, Miss Harry H. Smith of Coleskill, Miss Eddie E. McHugh of Walkill, Miss Margaret E. Clark of Cobleskill and Miss Florence E. White served the luncheon.

The gifts to the bride included silver, cut glass, electric ware and linens. The groom's gift to the bride was a solid gold bracelet. The bride's gift to the groom was a silver belt buckle and belt chain. The bride presented the maid of honor and the pianist with a set of white gold cufflinks.

The bride is a graduate of Oneonta High school and Oneonta State Normal school, class of 1922. For the past two years she has been a teacher in the Beacon public schools.

The groom is a graduate of Oneonta High school and Syracuse University, class of 1924. The future plans of the bride and groom have not been revealed.

At the close of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. White departed by auto for Syracuse, from whence they start a wedding trip to Niagara Falls.

WILLIAM FAY MARRIED

Bride, Miss Mildred Nadler, Graduate Oneonta State Normal.

William Fay also wishes to ask the patriotic housewives of the state not to forget these boys when they do their late summer canning. Pears, apple sauce, peaches, plums, and vegetables of all kinds will be very welcome and enjoyed all winter.

All articles for the camp should be sent packed, post prepaid, addressed to Dr. J. J. Cowkrook, Medical Supervisor, Big Tupper Lake, New York.

LIFE VICINITY RESIDENT

George L. Tallmadge Succumbs at Home of Son at Davenport Center.

Davenport Center, Aug. 20.—George L. Tallmadge, life long resident of this vicinity, died at the home of his son, John B. Tallmadge, in this village today, as a result of infirmities of age, from which he had suffered for some time. Funeral services will be held from the home of the son mentioned Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made at West Davenport.

Mr. Tallmadge was born at Marysville September 24, 1855, and has spent practically all of his life in this vicinity. He was a respected man with many friends who will extend their sympathy to the family.

Surviving Mr. Tallmadge are the son mentioned, a daughter, Mrs. Wagner of Johnson City, three grandchildren, Walter Tallmadge and Ford Tallmadge of Oneonta, and Ernest Tallmadge of Syracuse, and three great grandchildren.

Persons Family Reunion Enjoyable. The direct descendants of the late Hiriam and Salina Persons of Laurens held their first family reunion at Canarsiego park, Monday, August 18. After a beautiful picnic dinner was served by the ladies, a business meeting was called and it was voted to hold the reunion annually.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Cora Deyon of Mt. Vision; secretary, Mrs. L. D. Parker of Schenectady, and treasurer, Mrs. James Woolhouse of Oneonta. There were members of the family present from Schenectady, Schenectady, Oneonta, Utica, Mt. Vision and Lenox.

The morning was spent in fishing and boating and the afternoon in roller skating. Miss Ruth Woolhouse, our family scribe, composed a verse lauding every member of the family, which were read at dinner by Miss Parker, and caused no little merriment.

Fathers of Boys

Read This Appeal to You
Do You Want Your Boy to Achieve Success and to Amount to Something in Life?

Have you considered the relation to your boy's future welfare of a thorough education? Perhaps your boy is one of the thousands of our land who went to work this summer and who liked so well the idea of earning money that they have decided not to go back to school—and you have consented. If that is so we want you to know that the United States government made a careful inquiry into the subject of

THE MONEY VALUE OF EDUCATION and found that beyond doubt it does pay—in dollars and cents—to get a good education.

One of the many proofs found was furnished by the record of two groups of Brooklyn boys. One group who went to work upon leaving grammar school at the age of 14 earned—

In the entire 11 years following, an average of $5,112.50 per boy. Whereas, the other boys, who went on into High school and graduated at 15 years, earned—in the 7 years following, an average of $7,337.50 per boy or an average of $2,225 more per boy than was earned up to that time by their fellows, who had been at work 4 years longer than they.

The International Association of Rotary Clubs believes that to help boys to be boys at their best and to develop into the highest possible type of citizen is one of the things most needed to be done in the world.

As part of this work it is of vital importance to stimulate in boys a deep purpose to develop fully their mind as well as their bodies and so to this end we turn first to the Fathers, in whose keeping is placed so largely the welfare of their boys.

Resolve now, Fathers, that to the limit of your ability you will aid and inspire your boy to get an education that will give him the chance in life that he ought to have.

If he has graduated from Grammar school, get him to go through High school, have him go through college and all along the way inspire and encourage him to work hard and to make good.

In the years to come he will then be prepared to fill his proper place in

Thaw Joins Church and Becomes Town Fireman in 'Comeback' Fight ing element," Thaw said. "Still, sinners must be reached by the church."

When the millionaire put in a crisp new $20 yellowback in the collection plate on his first day, other members, not to be outdone, made large donations, many of them topping his offering.

Banker Pays a Call.

The trouble started when J. B. Russell, Union bank president, church pillar and social leader, called on the Thaws. His visit opened the way for MacFadden and others and gave his enemies a chance to say he had allowed wealth to overcome family reverence.

Mayor-elect Dr. J. F. Ward has tried to bridge the gap among his townsmen. He served notice Thaw must be given a square deal, but at the same time too great familiarity must be discouraged. He believes that "the prayers of the righteous availeth much," but doesn't favor mixing them up with prayers of the unprayed and untried.

That Kenilworth may not become the scene of city folks' high life orgies, the Ku Klux Klan paraded to let the community know it intended to check up.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, hearing that Thaw was going to stock his farm with pigs, rabbits, chickens and other domestic beasties, took alarm. Mrs. Robert Ward, S. P. C. A. president, recalled that Thaw was accused of biting rabbits, and set the society's 50 members on watch.

Miss Augusta Conrad made a visit to Kenilworth and saw a cat running about without a tail. Her excitement abated when it proved to be one of a bob-tailed variety. She has promised to have Thaw arrested if animals on his place come to grief.

Becomes a Fireman.

This city of 7,000 souls, which has never had even the excitement of seeing a street car, nearly collapsed when directors of the Rouss Fire company admitted the famous stranger. Every member of the company was present.

It is she who will win the town. Though 82 years old, she still looks after her boy. Big, broad, white-haired, majestic woman, slightly bent by years and tribulation, she is still the grande dame of a great family.

Harry to her is still the spoiled child she's done so much to rear. He still flies into tantrums and she still subsides and mollifies him.

At the hotel he demands instant service. If he is delayed he curses like a trooper, stamps his feet or pounds his hands on table or desk. He's never still, but speaks nervously, his eyes roving and seldom resting long on any object.

Mrs. Thaw solves trouble by her generosity. In one day at the George Washington hotel she distributed $100 in $5 bills to servants who had suffered from her boy's tongue-lashings and temper.

Thaw makes no apology for killing White. He is proud of having taken the law into his own hands. In this he has the sympathy of the valley where mountain law is strong.

Needle That Wrecked Ed Pays His Board

Live With "In-Laws"

New York.—Edward McAvoy, eighty, who claims to have been the "discoverer" of John L. Sullivan, world champion pugilist of a generation ago, recently displayed a needle almost two inches long and smiled with satisfaction. The needle which had destroyed the old man's means of livelihood has restored it.

Mr. McAvoy, who lives at the Hotel Victoria, smelted the needle six years ago while eating a piece of corn bread. Paralysis resulted, and the money which Mr. McAvoy had saved for his old age was spent on doctors' bills. Then, a few days ago, Mr. McAvoy felt a pain in his heel and reached down and pulled out the needle which had paralyzed one part of his body after another as it journeyed the length of his 6-foot frame.

Now Mr. McAvoy exhibits the needle to doctors who formerly treated him and were unable to diagnose his case. He charges them the same amount to see the needle which they formerly charged him when they failed to see it.

WHEAT IS WONDER GRAIN OF WORLD

What Is This Bounty of Nature Upon Which Many Millions Depend?

Washington.—What effect will the price of wheat have on the election this fall? News bulletins forecast the wheat crop. Political parties claim candidates can be elected if the price of wheat goes up. The first million dollar crop up has been reported. Historians have pointed out that wheat or the need of it has caused wars. Just what is this bounty of nature upon which millions depend and which millions know only as bread?

As far as known there was no cultivated wheat on the American continent when Columbus arrived but today the United States leads the world in production of this cereal.

In 1923 the wheat output of the United States was 781,737,000 bushels while in 1850 it was only one hundred million bushels. In 1919 production jumped to 967,370,000 bushels due to the call of war. Every grain of this wheat was much the same, the American Nature association points out.

Wheat belongs to the grass family. Its family name is Hordeum, and if the system of the genealogy books were followed four main branches would be found: Common wheat, Egyptian or English wheat, Flax, Durum or Macaroni wheat and Dwarfs wheat. The family tree would show many offshoots from each of these groups; wheats with interesting names like Turkey Red, Blue Stem, Scotch Flax, Golden Chaff and Bearded Winter Flax; red wheats and white wheats; winter wheats and spring wheats; hard wheats and soft wheats.

Many Kinds Developed.

Through centuries of cultivation, in varying climates and in different soils through experiment, through crossing and mixing, myriad kinds of wheats have developed.

On the outside the kernel wears an overcoat composed of cellulose. Next is a coat, and then a vest composed of bran. The kernel is still further protected by a shirt of gluten cells. Then comes the wheat kernel itself, with tiny indentations at the bottom where the germ of the new plant is stored. In different kinds of wheat the relative sizes of these coverings and the kernel vary, deciding the wheat's value and use.

There are winter wheats and spring wheats. The former is sowed and gains a foothold in the fall, and the latter is put in the ground in the spring.

The weight and size of the wheat kernel determines the flour yield. Flour made from hard wheat is the chief bread flour. That which is milled from soft wheat is best for crackers, cake and pastry. Durum flour makes a sticky dough fitted for the making of macaroni, into which more than 100,000 bushels of the output of the United States goes.

Graham flour is made from the whole grain ground into powder, while whole wheat flour, not as coarse as graham, is made from grinding what is left after the bran layers are removed.

But nature makes man work to save his wheat. How many know a black stem rust of grain, annually taking a toll of some fifty million dollars' worth of potential food products in the North Central states, is a disease which can be cured?

Has Its Enemies.

In the plant world the "germ" of a disease is sometimes known as a "spore." Like the typhoid germ, the black stem rust spore breeds in certain places. Instead of choosing fifth for its birthplace, however, its early days are spent on the leaves of the beautiful, common barberry bush known to many attractive lawns and gardens, and when it leaves the barberry it romps through the fields on the wings of the summer breeze.

There are two good methods for removing the common barberry. One is to dig it up, being sure to get every bit of the root. A bit of root left in the ground may send up sprouts furnishing a spring-time home for the rust spore. A more certain method than digging is to pour ten to fifteen pounds of common rock salt upon the roots of the plant.

A complete story of wheat is not only the story of the pioneers and their covered wagons but a story of the men who when they were going westward, wheat followed the tide of settlement. Today it grows in the soil of forty-three states. It creates economic and agricultural problems with which legislators, economists and business men as well as the farmer must grapple.

One day in prehistoric times a man set out with a mole hoe and started to cultivate wheat. There is no evidence that this grain grew wild and was of value without the help of man. Nature, as with many of its gifts, gave the means, leaving it to man to find the way. Grains of wheat have been found in the tombs of Egypt, and ancient records chronicle its cultivation and use for food.

Thaw stepped up, and touching the frightened one on the arm, said:

"I'm Harry Thaw. I killed a man in a just cause and I have no regret. But I'll never harm anyone else—especially a little girl."

Everywhere he goes, the town goes follows. He walks erect, with quick, nervous steps, his unusual height, gray hair, deep-lined face and athletic figure marking him apart.

Mother Often With Him.

Behind him is the ever-faithful A. J. Connally, four years his personal attendant and bodyguard. Usually his secretary accompanies him on one side while his mother walks on the other.

It is she who will win the town. Though 82 years old, she still looks after her boy. Big, broad, white-haired, majestic woman, slightly bent by years and tribulation, she is still the grande dame of a great family.

She's Another Helen Wills

"Lady-in-waiting to Queen Helen Wills" is the title which California has bestowed upon Helen Jacobs, 15-year-old girl tennis star of Berkeley, Calif. Experts agree that Miss Jacobs is potentially another Helen Wills. Some of them say she is farther advanced now than was Miss Wills at the same age. Miss Jacobs makes her debut in the early next month as a competitor in the national junior championships at Philadelphia.

HOTELMEN OPPOSE REPEAL

Hotel Business Now on Higher Level and Prosperous.

The following from the Union Signal is interesting as indicative of the sentiment among hotel proprietors the country over.

The hotelmen of the country are opposed to either the repeal or maintenance, three to one, according to John McMillian Howe, chairman of the hotel division of the national convention committee of the American Hotel Association. Addressing the meeting body at the national convention held in July, Mr. Howe said that new hotels, costing a total of $100,000,000, were built in this country last year, that the hotel management business is better today than ever before, and that the population tax is a valid excuse. He also was told various hotel proprietors from the states besides his own those who level of the administration and physical condition of the country are working with every effort to keep up the standard of living.

TRACIE WHITE INDIANS TO SCOTCH ANCESTORY

New Orleans Folk Have Legend of an Early Settlement in Barren — Tales of Engagement.

New Orleans, La.—The recent discovery of so-called "white Indians" on the isthmus of Panama by the March expedition has unleashed its legend in New Orleans, versed in the romantic lore of Central and South America.

An expedition of Scotsmen, some say, settled in Barren in the autumn of 1865 by authorization of the Scotch parliament. This expedition, numbering some 1,200 persons, included four ministers of the Church of Scotland, who went along to establish a Presbyterian organization, and it is told that because of their ascetic tendencies some of the sturdy Scotch families revolted against them and were banished from the settlement.

Later, it is said, others of the settlers were driven away by the Spaniards, and it is thought likely many of them fled into the jungles and remained. This, if the supposition is correct, might account for the white Indians.

But the San Blas tribe of Indians have a different story. Many years ago, they say, so long ago that no one can recall the date, a band of white men came to Barren and set about to rob the red men of their wealth. In their exploitations, however, the paleface visitors incurred the displeasure of an evil spirit and soon they died.

Their spirits, so the story goes, being angered, were driven into the feverish jungles, never to return forevermore. That is the legend of the San Blas tribe.

According to their oldest chieftains, no San Blas could intermarry with another race. That law still holds, and so strictly is it observed that even now a white man visiting their villages is carefully watched.

But there are tales of Scotchmen even among the San Blas, and they say that some of the women of the tribe ran away with paleface men, whom they married, only to be slain later or their babies killed a few days after birth.

If it is thought improbable by these unofficial historians that the white Indian is of Spanish origin, for the men of Spain were never referred to by the Indians as white men, but as "jineteas," after the Spanish "horseman."

This failure of the Indians to refer to the Spaniard as white men while that term was applied to other strangers of the jungles is considered solid ground for the theory of those that believe the new-found tribe descended from the Scotch.

GLEN'S FALLS INNS RAIDED

Glen's Falls, Aug. 20.—Five federal agents raided several places in this city Tuesday and made one arrest. Carl Bankowski, proprietor of an inn in lower Warren street, was arrested under a search warrant issued by Commissioner Hermann Metzner after the prohibition enforcement agents alleged they found gan in the kitchen of the inn. He furnished $1,000 bail for appearance Saturday.

Operation for Heart Disease Is Success

Vienna.—The complete recovery of a patient operated upon here for anemia pectoris by the American surgeon, Dr. Walter B. Coffey and Dr. Brown of the Southern Pacific hospital, San Francisco, has aroused the keenest interest of a conference of three groups of physicians from various parts of the world who have been directing their efforts to the relief of anemia pectoris by surgery.

The conference was called by Prof. Wenckebach, well known heart specialist of Vienna university, who delivered a course of lectures on that subject in the United States last year, and included, in addition to Drs. Wenckebach, Coffey and Brown, Proksch, Eppinger, Hofer and Winterberg of Vienna and Prof. Natta of Burkhardt. Prof. Wenckebach's visit to America did much to promote international cooperation in medicine and surgery.

Three Survivors of Last Man's Club Dine

Stillwater, Minn.—With only three of the four surviving members able to attend, the annual banquet of the famous Last Man's club was held here.

John S. Goff, eighty-one, came from St. Paul for the reunion; Charles Lockwood, seventy-nine, made the trip from Chamberlain, S. D., and Peter Hall, eighty-three, journeyed from Arvada, Minn. The other member, Emil Graff, eighty-three, was unable to leave his home at St. Cloud, Minn.

The Last Man's club was formed here in 1886 by 31 surviving members of B company, Minnesota volunteers, who fought in the Civil war. A bottle of wine was purchased at the first meeting and it was agreed that the last member should drink a toast to his departed comrades.

At this year's meeting 30 chairs, draped in black, were grouped about the banquet table in memory of members who had died.

ADMIT RUNNING RUM.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—Five men brought here from Block Island Sunday, three of them severely burned, and Monday that they were members of the crew of a British schooner running rum under a German charter. The injuries were sustained, they said, when some gasoline exploded Saturday night on a fishing boat lying alongside the schooner.

A Flavor that Only a Trial Can Describe

Can you describe a flavor? We can't. Neither the printed word nor the spoken language can do it. But we have a flavor to introduce to you—a blend of meats and seasonings—a blend of flavors, each flavor one that you've always liked. And the combination produces a new flavor—a flavor so appetizing, so zestful, yet so dainty that it makes the most delicious sandwich that ever melted on the human tongue.

But we can't describe it. Only your palate can do that. So we're adopting the only course that is available to us. We are giving you—free—one regular-size can of Delicia Sandwich Spread. And we are paying your grocer fifteen cents in cash for the can he gives you.

Solves a Troublesome Household Problem

Acceptance of this free offer will do far more for you than merely bring to you a new flavor. It will open for you an easy way to provide the principal feature of many an informal repast. Think of the practical usefulness of such a savory, wholesome, hunger-satisfying delicacy!

When friends drop in unexpectedly. When the little one says, "Mamma, I'm hungry." When you, yourself, would enjoy "just a bite" between meals, or after the theatre or motor ride. For school luncheons it provides a nutritious, toothsome dainty, high in food value, easily packed and greatly relished by every youngster. In the dinner-pail it supplies the brawn-and-bone-building elements that the worker must have, and at a surprisingly moderate cost.

For the picnic there never has been a delicacy that could even approach Delicia Sandwich Spread in its appeal to the taste and ease of preparation. Meals in the home are more appreciated when they are varied from time to time by some unusual feature. Delicia Sandwich Spread is ideal for this purpose.
